Year 5 - Lunar Learning Adventure: Moon Observation Project 🌙

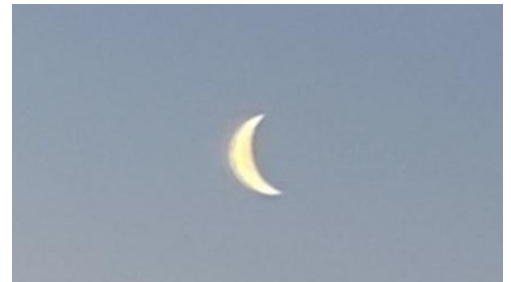

In year 5, our science curriculum has embarked on an exciting exploration of lunar cycles. Children have received a Moon Observation worksheet designed to encourage scientific curiosity and careful documentation.

Over the next 28 days, children are invited to observe the moon's nightly transformations. The task involves recording the moon's visible phases by shading corresponding sections of their worksheet. This hands-on activity provides an opportunity for family engagement in scientific discovery.

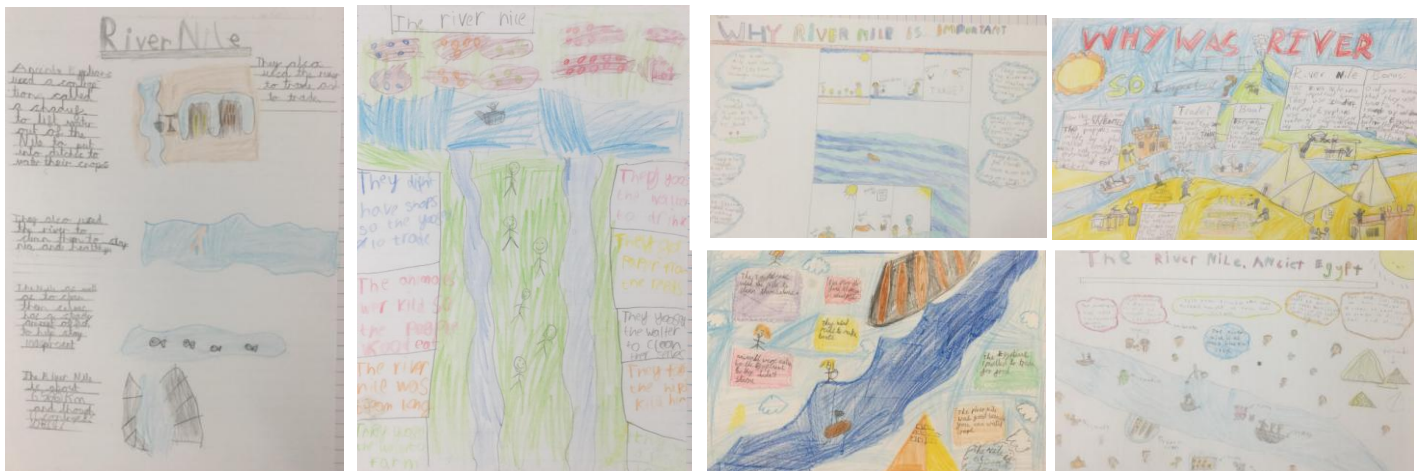

Parents are encouraged to support their child's observations, perhaps discussing intriguing questions about lunar characteristics: How does the moon's appearance change? What causes these variations? What illuminates the moon's surface? While consistent observations are ideal, we understand that occasional missed nights are normal. Weekly reminders will be provided to support participation.

We look forward to sharing more of year 5's astronomical insights. 🌠

Year 4 - We have been really engaged with our new history topic this term- Ancient Egyptians. We have created some beautiful posters which explain why the River Nile was so important to them.
